I have been Corine and James Loren's (CJM Puppies) primary veterinarian since 2021. They have continually provided excellent care for their dogs, and follow any and all recommendations provided by us as a clinic (Heartland Fort Veterinary Hospital).

As breeders, they ensure that their stud/bitches are very well cared for, always putting their health first before breeding. They have established a healthy breeding program, with their puppies being consistently healthy, free of disease and very loved. Corine and James only want what is best for their dogs, and provide constant breeder support even after their puppies have moved on to their new families.

Corine has put in hours of time with each puppy, assuring they are temperament tested and approved for the right homes. Not only has Corine genetically tested all of her studs and bitches, she also has implemented both OFA (Orthopedic Foundation of Animals) testing and PennHIP testing to further ensure that her breeding lines remain healthy and genetically sound.

We have had the pleasure of working alongside CJM Puppies, and are looking forward to being a continued partner in all their dogs' health care.

Should you have any questions or concerns in regards to their breeding program, please do not hesitate to contact me.
